

We want to keep everything simple and straightforward for you as you enter the WOW! Annual Group Show (WAGS) this year. We are also trying to keep things organized for the show organizers! We will have a lot of images coming in for consideration for the show. We plan to store the images in a folder online and we'd like consistency in file names. This is something every art show in the world requires.

I stand by my statement that you are welcome to snap a picture of your artwork (a good one) and send it to Terry Schmidt at WOW! that way.

Today I am asking that when you send the image, do not text it. Send it via email. There are a few other guidelines:

1. Send your pictures of your submitted artwork VIA EMAIL. In other words, take the picture, then go to your email. Prepare to send an email to terry.schmidt.3322631@gmail.com.
2. In the subject line put: Entry for WAGS #1. In the body of the email include the title of the work and the physical dimensions for width and height.
3. Send one picture at a time. This is so we can tell which titles go with which images, otherwise things get confusing.
4. If you have computer skills, and if you are able to assign a file name to your image, please do it this way: "Lastname.Firstname_1.Title" for the first image and change the number with each successive image. Example: "Wrahtz.Angela_1.Renewal.jpg" and "Wrahtz.Angela_2.FloralWonder.jpg" etc.
5. If you can't assign a file name, we will make that change to your file when it comes in so we can alphabetize our submissions list.

I know this sounds complicated but it is not. Ask for help, if you need it. I can assist on Tuesdays in Open Studio and we are available to help at upcoming GPS meetings.
